

Drivotech Online Trainer – Regional Opportunities

Drivotech Classroom Trainer – Regional Opportunities

Drivotech is a leading provider of driver awareness courses in the UK, and we are currently looking for trainers to deliver the National Speed Awareness Course in 2024 in certain regions.

Courses are currently delivered online, which means you can be based in any part of the UK. As this is a contractor role, it gives you total flexibility to manage your time and deliver courses on days that suit you.

Dependent on your location, we also have a number of opportunities for classroom trainers that you can do in addition to your online delivery.

Courses are offered as a police alternative to prosecution and are regulated by the National Driver Offender Retraining Scheme (NDORS). Due to the high standards required, we are looking for your experience, a belief in changing behaviour and a desire to contribute to road casualty reduction.

Responsibilities and Duties:

- Exercise good planning, preparation, and organisational skills
- Have some previous training or behavioural change experience
- Be able to deliver training in an engaging, informative, and structured fashion
- Be confident in delivering whole course content, whilst dealing with clients' challenges
- Understand the working principles of diversity and equality and inclusion
- Good IT skills and a basic knowledge of Microsoft Office software

Qualifications:

Essential

- You must hold a nationally recognised qualification in delivering training to adults, such as the Award in Education and Training (Level 3, or above) or an equivalent teaching qualification.
- You must have experience of training to groups of up to 24 delegates.
- You must have some experience within the police, or some professional driving experience, such as being an approved driving or motorcycle instructor.

We are an equal opportunities employer and welcome all candidate applications.

If you have any questions, please email police.recruitment@drivotech.co.uk or call 01256 495893 option 2 and ask for Alison Cannarozzo.
